Gray whale data available for Implementation Review

The International Whaling Commission Scientific Committee (IWC SC) will begin its Implementation Review of gray whales in the North Pacific during SC68B. The attached table outlines the data that may be considered during the Implementation Review, including the data type (e.g. biological data, photo-identification, genetic); point of contact; relevant reference(s) describing how the data were collected, including results of previous analyses; and a general description of what the data contain.
