I will say a few words and a small number of Commissioners holding specific roles within the IWC have kindly agreed to join me and share their perspectives. I recognise that there are a range of views held within our community and our aim is to reflect this in an event that is balanced and inclusive. The IWC has faced many challenges over the last 75 years and I hope that, regardless of the different perspectives on some issues, we all recognise and value the commitment and perseverance that have brought us to this point.

I hope you will be able to join us.
