The WKM&AWI Sub-Committee will hear the reports of the following IWC workshops:

- i. IWC workshop on the effective welfare management of live stranded cetaceans: improving networks and guidance for euthanasia. This workshop will be held in late 2013 at the Institute of Zoology in London, United Kingdom. Invitations will be sent from the Secretariat to all IWC Contracting Parties by April 2013.
- ii. A large whale entanglement response training workshop for Spanish speaking countries in the Wider Caribbean Region. This workshop was held 27-29 November 2012 at La Paz, Mexico.
- iii. A large whale entanglement response training workshop for French speaking countries in the Wider Caribbean Region. This workshop is planned to take place during 2013 and further details will be available shortly.

(At IWC/64 in 2012 the Commission also approved a proposal from the WKM&AWI Sub-committee for an interdisciplinary ship strike workshop in the wider Caribbean region. The report of this workshop will be heard by the Conservation Committee).

Scientific Committee

Chair: Mr T. Kitakado (Japan)

Vice-Chair: Ms C. Fortuna (Italy)

The full Scientific Committee continues to meet annually and the next meeting will be held in Korea in June 2013. The Committee operates 13 Sub-committees. Each Sub-committee's workplan is described in the relevant section of the Scientific Committee's report.

The Sub-committees are:

- i. Revised Management Procedure (RMP)
- ii. Aboriginal Whaling Management Procedure (AWMP)
- iii. Bowhead, right and gray whales (BRG)
- iv. In-depth assessment (IA)
- v. Bycatch and other human-induced mortality (BC)
- vi. Stock definition (SD)
- vii. DNA
- viii. Environmental concerns (E)
- ix. Ecosystem modelling (EM)
- x. Southern Hemisphere whales other than Antarctic minke whales (SH)
- xi. Small cetaceans (SM)
- xii. Whalewatching (WW)
- xiii. Special Permits (SP)

In addition to these Sub-committees the Scientific Committee receives reports of work undertaken (1) through the Southern Ocean Research Partnership (SORP); (2) through the IWC voluntary fund for small cetacean conservation research and (3) through the expert panel approach agreed for special permit reviews.

The Scientific Committee will hold a number of intersessional workshops (additional to the Commission workshops listed above) whose reports will be considered at the Committee's Annual Meeting. In the 2012-2013 intersessional period these include workshops on RMP Implementations and related matters including stock structure, AWMP development, and the POWER cruise programme (North Pacific Ocean Whale and Ecosystem Research).
